Preface

Yet another EuroProj meeting, this one taking place in England. It gives me an excuse to go by London and indulge in browsing through bookstores (as well as squezzing in a visit to some museum). Nice weather, nice meeting, the most momentous event being the decision to merge with AGE. Merging or a simple absorption? Time will tell.

Unlike Nordfjordeid no spectacular excursions. Local travel, soccer games, and running with the Norwegian student. Nothing really noteworthy. But of course the lack of real events does not stop me from documenting everything, or almost everything, meticolously not to say obsessively.
